TD US$ Extendible Notes

Due January 16, 2027

Pays semi-annually & Extendible semi-annually to January 16, 2030

ISIN	[-]
Business Day	A day (other than a Saturday or Sunday) on which commercial banks are open for business in Toronto and New York.
Secondary Market	TDSI will endeavour to maintain a secondary market for the Notes, but reserves the right not to do so in the future in its sole discretion, without providing notice to Noteholders. The secondary market price of the Notes will be dependent on a number of factors, in particular prevailing interest rates and the Extension Feature. An investor who sells a Note to TDSI prior to the Maturity Date may receive sale proceeds that are less than the Principal Amount.

Important Facts About Extendible Notes

Investors in the Notes should be aware that they are subject to certain risk factors. Potential investors in the Notes are urged to consult his or her own legal, accounting and tax advisers in order to determine the consequences of an investment in the Notes and to make an independent evaluation of such investment. Specific risk factors include, but are not limited to:

The Notes are Non-Standard Investments

The Notes have certain investment characteristics that differ from traditional fixed income securities. Specifically, the performance of the Notes will not track the same price movements as traditional interest rate products. A person should reach a decision to invest in the Notes after carefully considering, with his or her advisors, the suitability of the Notes in light of his or her investment objectives and the information set out in the above terms of offering. TD makes no recommendation as to the suitability of the Notes for investment.

The Extension Feature

As a result of the Extension Feature of the Notes, the price movement of the Note will be quite different from that of other notes, bonds, and similar debt instruments with the same credit risk and term to maturity. For example, if prevailing interest rates fall, the market price of the Notes may be limited to the price applicable to the then-existing Maturity Date. Noteholders are compensated for the uncertainty caused by the Extension Feature of the Notes by receiving a higher yield compared to other debt instruments with a similar credit risk and term to maturity.

TD is less likely to exercise its right to extend the Maturity Date of the Notes during periods of relatively low interest rates, or otherwise where it determines that its borrowing cost under the Notes is, or might be, higher than from other available sources. The decision to extend the Notes will be made solely by TD and may occur at a point in time that is not advantageous to Noteholders.

Secondary Market

The Principal Amount is only payable on the Maturity Date. Noteholders may sell the Notes in the secondary market prior to the Maturity Date. TDSI will endeavour to maintain a secondary market for the Notes in its sole discretion but reserves the right not to do so in the future, without providing notice to Noteholders.

Proceeds on any sale in the secondary market may be less than the Principal Amount.

Credit Risk

The Notes will constitute direct and unconditional obligations of TD. The Notes are not insured by the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation (CDIC) or any other entity. The likelihood that Noteholders will receive the payment owing to them in connection with the Notes will be dependent upon the financial health and credit worthiness of TD.

Potential Conflicts of Interest

The Notes will be offered by TD through selling agents that may include related entities of TD such as TDSI and TD Waterhouse Canada Inc. ("TDW"). TDSI and TDW are wholly-owned subsidiaries of TD, and TD is a related issuer of TDSI and TDW. TDSI, which has undertaken to use reasonable efforts to endeavour to provide a secondary market, is an affiliate of TD. In addition, from time to time TD, or an affiliate, may have to perform functions in relation to the Notes.

Currency Risk

The Notes are denominated in U.S. dollars and any amounts payable under the Notes will be in U.S. dollars. The Canadian dollar equivalent of any return on the Notes will be subject to any fluctuations in the exchange rate between the Canadian dollar and the U.S. dollar. In addition, amounts relevant to the computation of income under the Tax Act are generally reported in Canadian dollars. As such, any amount that is expressed or denominated in a currency other than Canadian dollars must be converted into Canadian dollars using an appropriate exchange rate.
